Florida Southern College is committed to educational excellence and is a selective, comprehensive, private United Methodist college with a strong liberal arts core and signature programs. The college enrolls a talented student body and includes an accomplished faculty who are dedicated to teaching excellence. Outstanding opportunities for interdisciplinary learning, student-faculty collaborative research and performance, service learning, study abroad, and honors study are distinctive features of the academic program at Florida Southern. The college offers exceptional student life programs, including a championship athletic program.

President's Letter

Florida Southern is a college “On the Move!” Nowhere else is our spirit more evident than in the lives of outstanding students. It is my pleasure to introduce the 2010 edition of the Interlachen, which highlights many of leadership contributions to the college community during the past year.

FSC students are quintessentially “engaged” by participating in fascinating Convocation topics, vibrant academic, social, Greek, and service organizations. These organizations and activities are preparing FSC students for exciting and productive futures.

During the past year, FSC has hosted passionate speakers, one of which was Blake

Mycoskie, founder and “chief shoe-giver” of TOMS shoes. Students have participated in meaningful service projects, such as assembling more than 1,000 health kits for the United Methodist Committee on Relief following the devastating earthquake in Haiti. FSC students have also pursued dynamic educational opportunities on campus, across our nation, and abroad.

The 2009-2010 school year has been full of important milestones for Florida Southern College. In the fall, we welcomed our largest entering class ever filled with students who are exceptional because of their high level of academic achievement and commitment to civic engagement. We opened Nicholas Hall, the Joe K. and Alberta Blanton Nursing Building and the Marshall and Vera Lea Rinker Technology Center. Our campus was made even more beautiful by the addition of several new gardens, including the Marla Glover Garden and the Roberts Grandchildren Garden.

Florida Southern's biggest milestone is the celebration of our 125th anniversary. On a most-memorable Founders Day, we heard an inspiring message from best-selling leadership author Dr. Stephen R. Covey and recognized the talents and contributions of distinguished alumni who dared to dream big dreams and change our world.

We continue to garner national recognition as one of the nation's most distinguished private colleges. For the third consecutive year, Florida Southern College was included in The Princeton Review's "Best Colleges Guide." FSC was also selected to be in the prestigious Fiske Guide to Colleges, which touts the College as one of only 44 "Best Buy" colleges in the country. FSC ranked amongst the Top 10 "Best Baccalaureate Colleges in the South" for the seventh consecutive year and is No. 1 in Florida in its category in U.S. News & World Report.

There is a dynamic spirit on campus as our talented students work with great professors on research projects and performances. The community joins together for social, athletic, spiritual and academic events that fulfill our mission of preparing students to make a positive and consequential impact on society.

It is a privilege to serve as president of an institution noted for such outstanding student achievement and engagement. Thank you for all that you do to contribute to the vitality of this remarkable college.

Anne B. Kerr, Ph.D.
President

Editors' Letter

Dear Reader,

The 2009-2010 Interlachen is about building. The Interlachen was built from the ground up by going back to the basics. The staff wanted to present a raw, rough outlook of our school year.

Florida Southern College has not only changed its attitude and curriculum, but has added to the charm of a timeless campus. New buildings and gardens have adorned our campus, but the most important construction plans have been developing our education and developing Florida Southern students into the people that are going keep the world "On the Move!"

Whether you are graduating or still developing in the Florida Southern community, remember that even the best made plans have their weaknesses. Only through strong preparation and dedication can a person develop into who they are meant to be. Your learning does not end with an exam or a diploma. It is a never-ending course from which you should never stray.

The Interlachen staff is proud to help you remember those special moments in your college career and show you the changes you went through that built you into the person you are today.

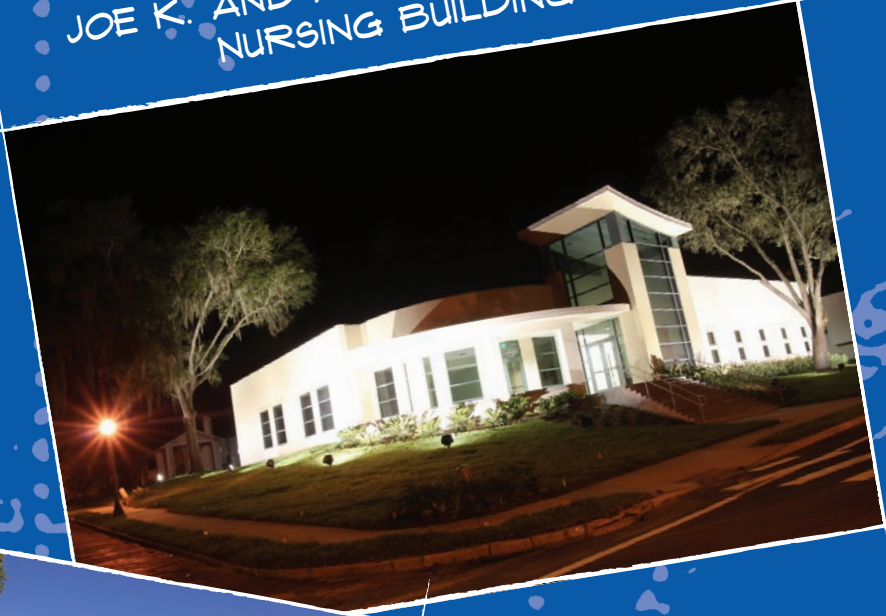

As Editor-in-Chief, I wish everyone a good, prosperous life and congratulations to the Class of 2010!

Nursing Building

On Sept. 8, 2006, Dr. Anne Kerr announced that FSC had received a $2.5 million gift from philanthropist and Lakeland resident Alberta Blanton to construct a new nursing building. The gift allowed the college to build a state-of-the-art facility that promotes Florida Southern's nursing program.

The construction started on Nov. 19, 2008 and was completed on Aug. 27, 2009. The beautiful Joe K. and Alberta Blanton nursing building stands tall on the north corner of Finney and Johnson Avenue.

The building was designed by Mike Murphey of Wallis, Murphey, Boyington Architects of Lakeland. The structure is as beautiful inside as it is outside. The facility includes wireless classrooms, a student lounge, a treatment simulation laboratory, faculty offices, conference room, and a nursing skills lab.

The ceremonial ribbon-cutting to inaugurate the building and celebrate Blanton's kindness took place right in front of the nursing building on Nov. 13, 2009. There were about 150 people celebrating with Florida Southern College.

"The entire campus community is deeply grateful for Mrs. Blanton's generosity to make this exceptional facility a reality" said Dr. Anne B. Kerr.

FSC's nursing program has expanded with the addition of four-year Bachelor of Science degree. This is the first nursing program offered in Polk County. The state-of-the-art nursing facility will provide our talented nursing students with the skills and experience to offer excellent health care to Polk County once they graduate.

The new nursing building provides the technologically advanced facilities needed to meet the classroom and clinical teaching requirements of the expanded curriculum.

Technology Center

On March 19, 2010, Florida Southern celebrated the dedication of the state-of-the-art Marshall and Vera Lea Rinker Technology Center. The scenic 4,000 square-foot construction is located in the heart of the campus beside Ingraham Avenue.

The Rinker Technology Center provides students with a computer laboratory wired with the latest technology, a seminar room, a cyber lounge, and work spaces for the staff.

The building was designed to include some Frank Lloyd Wright elements by Michael Murphey, vice president of Wallis Murphey Boyington Architects of Lakeland. The Marshall and Vera Lee Rinker Foundation of West Palm Beach donated $1.5 million to finance the construction of the facility.

“The glue that holds this campus together is the Frank Lloyd Wright flavor that is woven throughout,” said John Rinker, president of the Marshall and Vera Lea Rinker Foundation.

The Rinker Technology Center is open for students 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

Humanities Building

The Dr. Marcene H. and Robert E. Christoverson Humanities building is still under construction, but progress can be seen through its soaring roofs and elegant glass entry way. The ceremonial ground breaking for the construction took place on October 26, 2007. The 15,000 square foot building is located on Lake Hollingsworth alongside Johnson and Mississippi Avenues.

The funding of the construction was supported by Trustee Dr. Marcene H. Christoverson. She generously donated $2 million to the school for the building to become reality.

“I am happy to play a role in the College’s transformation,” Dr. Christoverson said.

The building will provide students with technologically advanced classrooms, common areas to relax in, faculty common areas, a film studies center, study rooms and a state-of-the-art language center.

“The study of languages and literatures is part of our founding heritage and continues to support our mission of preparing students to make positive and important contributions to society,” Dr. Kerr said.

Gardens

In addition to all of the building transformations that have gone on this year, Florida Southern has also undergone some beautification projects. One of the new gardens is Lynn's Garden, which is named after Lynne Hollis, the wife of past president and former vice chairman of the board of Publix Super Markets, Mark Hollis.

Lynn Garden is an attractive eco-friendly garden with a stunning marble sculpture as its centerpiece. The sculpture is entitled Spirit and was created by Mark Hollis.

The Florida Southern campus was once recognized by its breath-taking views of Lake Hollingsworth, but now Lynn Garden has added yet another gem to the Florida Southern campus.

Another garden that has joined the Florida Southern campus is the Marla Glover garden. The garden was a gift to Marla from her husband in celebration of their 40th wedding anniversary.

The garden has a 3 tier fountain in the middle of it and runs beside Ordway. The garden add to the beauty of the Florida Southern campus and students enjoy walking through the garden on their way to class.

Barnett Life Center

The new Barnett Residential Life Center replaced the 1950s Panhellenic Building. The new dorm room buildings were named after the Barnett's children, Wesley and Nicholas.

Carol and Barney Barnett, both alumni of Florida Southern College and Lakeland community leaders donated the new Residential Life Center.

The buildings run along the shores of Lake Hollingsworth, enabling some lucky students to have an amazing lake view from their dorm room window.

"The new Residential Life Center provides a wonderful enhancement to both our campus and the city of Lakeland," said Dr. Kerr.

The facility is 100,00 square-feet and provides 195 bedrooms, meeting rooms, a kitchen with oven, a media and computer center, an entertainment center, 24-hour study rooms, and an outdoor park area between the two buildings.

"This new residential life facility will not only set a new standard for resident life on our campus, but will be a national model for other private colleges and universities," said Dr. Kerr.

LAKELAND IN 1949.

Frank Lloyd Wright

Florida Southern College is the largest collection of Frank Lloyd Wright buildings in the world.

Florida Southern College began not with the architecture of Frank Lloyd Wright, but with a vision former college president Dr. Ludd Spivey had for a “great education temple.”

The year was 1933. The Great Depression was affecting the world over and the Florida Southern Board of Trustees were voting to close Florida Southern College. However, Dr. Spivey still believed in building a “truly American campus.”

Dr. Spivey was inspired by the viewing of a war memorial on a trip to Europe to build a college. Spivey contracted Frank Lloyd Wright and met him in Wisconsin to discuss the idea of a college campus in the orange groves.

In a conversation between Spivey and Wright, Spivey said, “I have no money with which to build the modern American campus, but if you’ll design the buildings, I’ll work night and day to raise the means.”

Dr. Spivey did find a creative way to raise the means. When admitting students to Florida Southern College, Spivey told the students that, instead of paying tuition, they would be help build the campus.

When the United States entered WWII, the male students went off to war and the women finished building the original Roux library. The original library is now the Hollis room of Thad Buckner Building.

During the time between 1938-1958, twelve of the eighteen structures Wright designed were constructed. Wright’s designs for his “Child of the Sun” required the use of a few basic materials: steel for strength, sand because it is native to Florida and glass to bring God’s outdoors into man’s indoors.

The first ground breaking ceremony was held on May 24, 1938 for the Annie M. Pfeiffer Chapel. Dedication of the building took place March 9, 1941.

Wright's architecture can be seen in the following structures:

Annie Pfeiffer Chapel,	1941
Three Seminar Buildings,	1941
Esplanades,	1941-1958
E.T. Roux Library,	1945
- renamed Thad Buckner Building	1968
Watson/Fine Administration Buildings,	1948
Waterdome,	1948
Ordway Arts Building,	1952
Danforth Chapel,	1955
Polk County Science Building,	1958

Already well known during his lifetime, Wright was recognized in 1991 by the American Institute of Architects as "the greatest American architect of all time." More than 30,000 visit the Child of the Sun campus every year.

Visitor Center is open Monday to Friday 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.; Saturday 10:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m.; Sunday 2:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m. the grounds are accessible 24 hours a day.

Alpha Chi Omega

Philanthropy: Peace River Center

The Beta Omicron Chapter of Alpha Chi Omega was founded on November 13, 1936. Since its founding, AXΩ has fostered members who were leaders on campus, in the Greek community, and in the local community. Beta Omicron's main philanthropy is the "Support of Victims of Domestic Violence" through a partnership with the Peace River Center, a local shelter and rape recovery center. Luminary Project, a night of remembrance and beauty, was held in the fall of 2009 as the Sisters lit luminary candles in honor of Victims of Domestic Violence.

Luminary Project was paired last fall with AXΩ's Volley Against Violence, a day filled with volleyball tournaments comprised of teams of other campus organizations. The springtime also holds a busy week for AXΩ as February hosts the Omega Man week - a week of events including field games and pizza eating contest. A pageant is hosted during the week for members of other organizations on campus to compete for the title of Omega Man, a super hero who fights against Domestic Violence.

Alpha Delta Pi

Philanthropy: Ronald McDonald House Charities

Alpha Delta Pi was the first sorority created in 1851. ADPi supports The Ronald McDonald House with fund-raising and collecting pop tabs. In the past year, Alpha Delta Pi won Greek Week for the 3rd year in a row, participated in all of the Panhellenic and IFC chapter's philanthropy events and kept strong Greek relations amongst the other houses. ADPi kept the 2nd highest GPA amongst the sororities. ADPi prides themselves on strong sisterhood and living by their open motto, "We Live for Each Other."

Members of Alpha Omicron Pi

Founded on January 2, 1897, Alpha Omicron Pi began as a dream by 4 young college women to continue their friendship throughout life. One of AOII's founders, Stella George Stern Perry, expressed her wish for AOII that remains her wish for her member's today:

“May you have the joy in it all, dear children, that we (founders) have had all the way! May you love one another as happily always as we four have done in a life-long fellowship without a break! And may your descendants in Alpha Omicron Pi bring to you the glory that you yourselves are to us today!”

Alpha Omicron Pi was founded by Helen St. Clair Mullan, Stella George Stern Perry, Elizabeth Heywood Wyman, and Jessie Wallace Hughan. AOII's color is cardinal and their jewel is the ruby. While the wheat, representing bonding many together, is our symbol, the panda is our unofficial mascot. Alpha Omicron Pi's Philanthropy is the American Juvenile Arthritis Foundation.

Delta Sigma Theta

Philanthropy: Girl Scouts of America

Members of Delta Sigma Theta

The Sorority was founded in 1913 by twenty-two students at Howard University. These young women wanted to use their collective strength to promote academic excellence, provide scholarships, provide support to the undeserved, educate and stimulate participation in the establishment of positive public policy and to highlight issues and provide solutions for problems in their communities.

Delta Sigma Theta uses the Five-Point Thrust as an organizing structure as it creates programs to benefit the African-American community. The Five-Point Programmatic Thrust, which was established in 1955, includes Economic Development, Educational Development, International Awareness and Involvement, Physical and Mental Health, and Political Awareness and Involvement.

After twelve abiding years, the Upsilon Eta Chapter of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Inc. was chartered by the Lakeland Alumnae Chapter at Florida Southern College on April 16, 2009. Felicia Alingu, Brittany Glass, Michaela Burton, Jill Dickerson, Tierra Robinson, Jasmine Herbert, and Tara Dames are collectively called the Unstoppable Upsilon Eta Chapter. They strive to promote scholarship, sisterhood, and most important to the organization, service. We currently volunteer as mentors in the Girl Scouts of America program and also serve at Light House Ministry and Farmworkers Ministry.

Members of Gamma Phi Beta

The Florida Southern College Colony of Gamma Phi Beta welcomed its charter sisters on February 13, 2010. They are currently working toward Initiation and Installation, which is scheduled for April 2010. Gamma Phi Beta Sorority was founded at Syracuse University on November 11, 1874, and is one of the ten oldest women's organizations in America.

The values encompass Gamma Phi Beta's mission to empower women, support and challenge one another in a lifetime of learning and remain committed to personal development as sisters, as a sorority and as individual women.

During their first semester, the sisters hosted Gamma Phi-esta!, a celebration of community spirit with the entire campus. Gamma Phi members were matched with Twin Sisters, got excited for their Little Sisters-to-be, installed their first board of officers, participated in countless Greek and campus events and worked together to build the foundation for a lifetime of sisterhood at Florida Southern.

Kappa Delta

Philanthropy: Prevent Child Abuse America

Members of Kappa Delta

Kappa Delta is a national sorority started at State Female Normal School in Farmville, Virginia, on October 23, 1897.

The Gamma Epsilon Chapter of Kappa Delta supports four national philanthropies and one local philanthropy: Girl Scouts of America, Prevent Child Abuse of America, American Association of Orthopedic Research, Children's Hospital of Richmond, Virginia, and Heartland for Children. We make great things happen in women's lives on campus, in the community, and across the country.

Photo: Holobinka

Recently, Kappa Delta partnered with the Dove Campaign for Real Beauty to promote self-esteem and confidence among women. Kappa Delta inspires its members to reach their potential by offering opportunities for leadership, personal development, academic success and community service, all in the context of true friendship.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon. A Greek organization. A college fraternity. What draws young men to this viable organization? The quiet path their fathers and grandfathers have groomed them to take or a spontaneous outreach, yearning for more from their college years?

Whatever the reason may be, one ideal will always stand true: brotherhood. Despite the hardships of collegiate life, our resolve and passion stands stronger than ever and will continue to grow over the years to come.

SAE brings together men of distinct qualities and unique backgrounds to meet and succeed in accomplishing a shared goal. Our brotherhood is held sacred to us, and the path that we choose to follow will remain goal oriented, respectful and prosperous in a businesslike manner.

“...men with whom honor is sacred and virtue safe.”

Art & Graphics

Alyssa Paxson, Ligia Carvallo, Jim Rogers, Sam Romero, William Otremsky, Beth Ford, Joseph Mitchell

The Bachelor of Arts (B.A.) and Bachelor of Science (B.S.) degrees in Art Education each offer Studio Art and Art History courses. The courses provide each student with a solid background in the field of art. Graduates may be certified to teach in the Florida schools and are in demand in the job market.

The Bachelor of Arts (B.A.) in Art History offers a traditional liberal arts degree. The Art History program gives an overview of human history, cultures of the world and contemporary thought.

The Bachelor of Arts (B.A.) in Graphic Design is a well-rounded program for students who seek careers in commercial art and design or in advertising.

The Bachelor of Fine Arts (B.F.A.) degree in Graphic Design offers comprehensive training in art and design and ends with the completion of a Senior Thesis Exhibition and critique.

Athletic Training

Photo: Hanley

Kelly Cox, Brian Simerville, Al Green

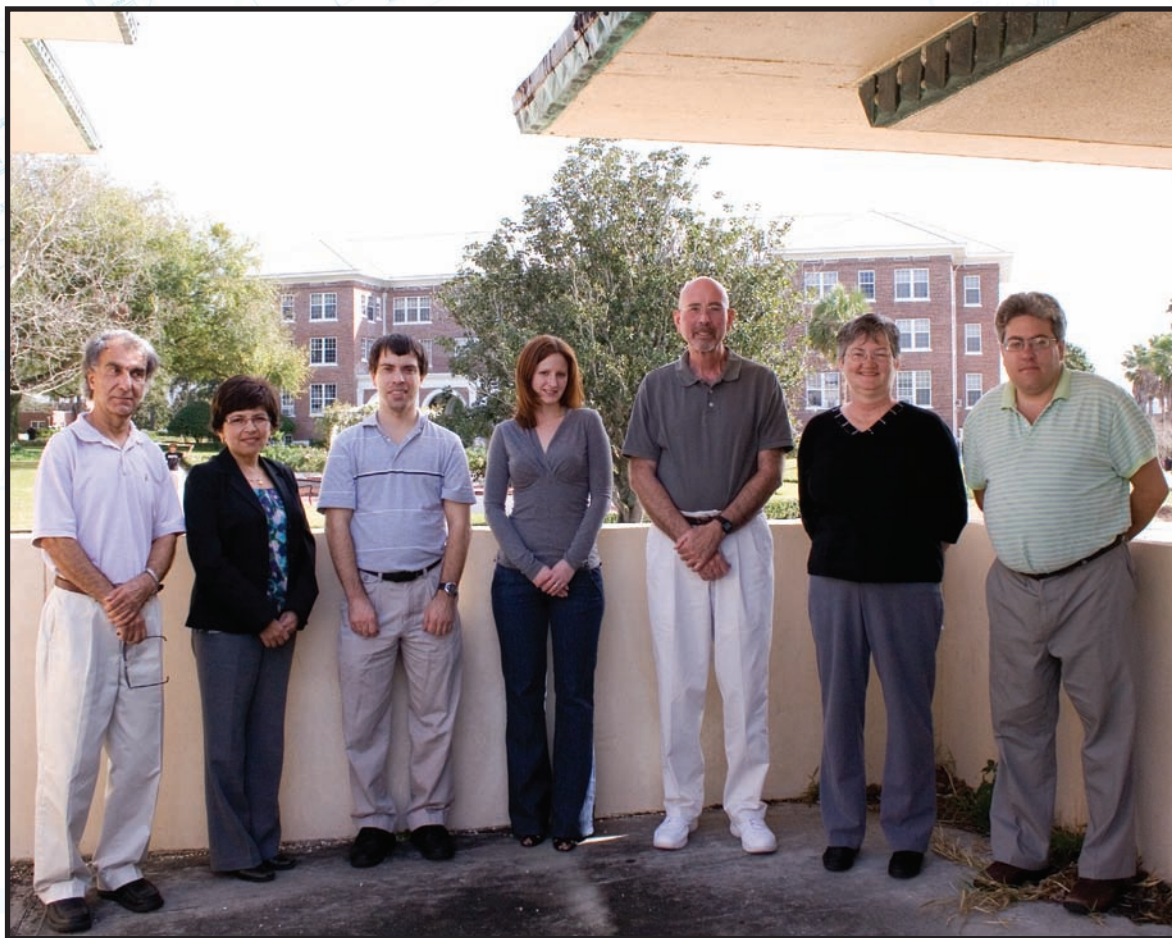

FSC's Athletic Training Program is a CAATE Accredited Athletic Training Education Program

The Florida Southern College Athletic Training Education Program prepares students to become skilled certified athletic trainers by providing a comprehensive program based on creative coursework, quality hands-on opportunities and a variety of unique clinical experiences.

Athletic Training students complete all educational competencies and clinical proficiencies to meet accreditation standards in preparation for successful completion of the Board of Certification Examination.

The Athletic Training Education faculty is committed to recruiting motivated students dedicated to excellence and who strive to be clinicians, leaders, researchers, and educators in the field of athletic training.

Biology & Chemistry

Penny Snoke, Louis Saco, John Tripp, Edie J. Banner, and John Spencer

Florida Southern biology students have the opportunity to move beyond the classroom and apply what they learn to real-life situations. Guided by outstanding faculty, students seek answers to scientific questions through observation and experimentation. Each student learns the techniques and methods needed to perform productive research.

Florida Southern's natural science curriculum seeks to build a foundation of knowledge through a core group of courses. This allows students to specialize in a variety of areas and provides students with a great deal of flexibility in terms of their career and post-graduate study opportunities.

Business & Economics

Lisa Berardicurti, Dr. Cindy Hardin, Dr. Nicholas Nugent

Depending on the concentration, Florida Southern students can learn how to manage a budget for a large corporation, manage a company downsizing, and develop strategic marketing plans for real companies.

Students expand their career options by taking electives in other disciplines. Interdepartmental specializations, like sports management and music management, offer the opportunity for a student to combine major with another interest.

In addition to class assignments and summer projects, each student has the opportunity for internships at a diverse range of local, regional, and national companies. Florida Southern has partnerships with banks, accounting firms, brokerage firms, insurance offices, governmental offices, advertising agencies, nonprofit organizations, hotels, and supermarket chains...just to name a few!

Citrus & Horticulture

N. Curtis Peterson III, Malcom M. Mannors

Students majoring in Landscape Horticulture Production and Design, Recreational Turfgrass Management, Horticultural Science, or Citrus receive a Bachelors of Science degree upon graduation.

This program of study offers students a strong science-based academic program that incorporates business courses with field trips, and a professional internship prepares students for exciting, challenging, and high-paying jobs.

The program has a strong commitment to connect graduates with a large field of potential employers, and to help them through the process of finding the right job opportunity.

Communication

Seated: Desirae Moody, Chris Fenner, Beth Bradford
Not shown: Alex Ortiz

Communication majors have a variety of courses available to them to help achieve career goals, ranging from online media to P.R. to broadcast production and print publication.

Each student has the opportunity to get real-world experience through mandatory internships opportunities. Students can choose to work with newspapers, radio stations, TV stations, advertising or public relations agencies. Everyone is also encouraged to participate in a study abroad program.

The Communication faculty are highly qualified individuals and are specialists in the professional world. They keep up-to-date on industry trends in order to prepare students for a professional career or graduate study. Beyond their teaching roles at Florida Southern, department faculty have held offices in national organizations, worked as consultants for various profit and non-profit groups, adjudicated professional and student work across the country and owned their own businesses.

Computer Science & Mathematics

Florida Southern offers B.A. and B.S. degrees with majors in Computer Science, Mathematics, or a multidisciplinary degree in Computer Science and Mathematics.

A minor in Computer Science and a minor in Mathematics are also offered for students majoring in other disciplines. Students enjoy small classes, highly qualified faculty committed to professional excellence and modern computer laboratories.

The School of Education has the responsibility for planning, coordinating, and evaluating all programs of teacher education at Florida Southern College. With over 15 professors, the education department strives for excellence.

The professors encourage students to visit them during their office hours to answer any questions so that “no student is behind”. The field of Education offers a broad range of opportunities for career choices. Most educators begin their professional lives as classroom teachers.

The choices for a prospective teacher with a Bachelor's degree include teaching kids from pre-school through high school. The opportunities are endless!

English

Middle Row: Erica Bernheim, Kathy Kniffin, Paula Buck, Catherine Eskin
Back Row: Keith Huneycutt, Peter Schreffler, Claudia Slate

Florida Southern's English program is well grounded in the liberal arts tradition. Classes in the English department are never boring with over 10 professors and more than 40 courses to take!

The English department gives both a broad foundation in literary studies with a concentrated study in a particular choice. A world of advancement and opportunity await for someone who has an English degree!

Our graduates excel in many fields that include law, business, journalism, public relations, acting, education and marketing. Being an English major is the absolute best training for taking advantage of life!

Modern Languages

Nancy Dotson, C. White, Rosita Martínez, José García
Not pictured: Eridan J. Thompson

In the Spanish department, instruction revolves around practicing speaking and writing skills to become more proficient in a language. As students progress in the curriculum, they research and reflect on Spanish culture. Outside the classroom, Spanish majors gain valuable experience through language drills with non-majors, traveling, and participating in a variety of enrichment activities. Students have opportunities throughout the year to study abroad in Spain.

Music

Florida Southern's music department gives students the opportunity to shine during solo recitals and ensemble concerts by offering one-on-one lessons and comprehensive classroom courses. Whether performing, teaching or composing, tools can be found within the sound proof walls of the music department to aid any musician.

Student musicians and faculty work closely together to make sure every student excels academically. The music department offers practice rooms that are steps away from teaching studios. If you ever need help or want a question answered, the professors are right there the corner with their doors open.

Psychology

At Florida Southern, students gain an intuitive sense of how to study psychology. Observations made in class will give the student the experience he needs to succeed in future careers. Students apply the scientific method, create sound experimental designs concerning topics like sense perception and human behavior.

Florida Southern psychology students do not just study the biology of how brains work and why people do what they do. Psychology is about discovering the complexities of interpersonal relationships and how the society we live in shapes the way we view others.

Religion and Philosophy

Back: Jeremy Kelly, Dr. W. Alan Smith, Dr. Waite Willis, Dr. Frank Johnson
Front: Dr. Dan Silber, Dr. Sara Fletcher Harding

Is the soul something different from the body?
Do human beings have free will?
Are there objective moral standards?

Philosophy addresses these kinds of questions using critical reasoning that develop students' problem-solving skills and teaches students to think outside the box.

The religion program challenges students to develop a critical understanding and an appreciation of the histories, concepts and traditions of the Judeo-Christian faith and of other major world religions.

The philosophy and religion programs offer the Bachelor of Arts degree and a number of courses in the Cornerstone Curriculum. Students who take philosophy courses deal with questions about the nature of reality, knowledge, and value. They seek a better understanding of the world and our place in it.

Sociology & Criminology

Ed Plowman, Sharon Masters, Rison Slate, Heather Rines, John Thomasson, Elba Cherry, Patrick Anderson

In Florida Southern's sociology & criminology department, students accept the challenge of studying and ultimately helping shape society's behavior. Students identify harms and issues, analyze the problem in question and look for solutions that benefit everyone.

Sociology and criminology students have a wide variety of career choices available to them. The courses are well-suited for a broad, liberal arts education and provide academic preparation for a number of advanced degrees.

History & Political Science

Francis Hodges, James Denham, Nick Steneck, Jennie Scully

History majors study the past not only as the past; they study how it changes and develops the future as well. Political science majors study political behavior and political values.

Though each discipline is unique, there is often a natural overlap between the two. The goal of the history department is to instill the ability to think and get students to create their own answers to questions and problems posed by societies, past and present. During the junior and senior years, students can get internships that will open up doors to a variety of experiences.

With over 80 years of combined teaching experience, each professor has a Ph.D. degree. The history professors work hard so that their students can excel academically.
